

Praise for Anonymous Is a Woman by Nina Ansary

Smithsonian Magazine “Books of the Week” May 2020

Buzzfeed “17 Brilliant Books That You Won’t Struggle to Finish” May 2020

“It’s about time! This anthology gives female innovators the credit they deserve - all the while exposing the egregious repercussions of inequality.” —Teen Vogue Book Club Pick 2020

“Inspiring, compelling, and necessary...an examination of the systems of power that...have silenced women’s voices and contributions.” —Foreword Reviews * 5 Stars ****

“...An eclectic and enlightening look at the stories of women often ignored by history...does an excellent job of capturing readers’ attention.” —Kirkus Reviews

“...immersing yourself in this book will prove beneficial to your historical knowledge...a learning tool for men and women alike with insightful information galore.”
—San Francisco Book Review * 5 Stars ****

“...powerfully evocative text...and a unique, long-needed resource...” —Indiereader * 5 Stars ****

“These biographical sketches will inspire young women to smash patriarchal expectations and constraints...Recommended for academic and high school libraries.” —Booklist

“...a must-read book for everyone who wants to understand the roots and manifestations of systemic gender discrimination in everyday life. Read it and learn from one of the best.”
—Michelle King, Director of Inclusion, Netflix

“...an indispensable, brilliantly written call to action. Read the book and heed her call.”
—Melanne Verveer, Former US Ambassador for Global Women's Issues

“Fifty shades of genius – An elegant authoritative exploration of gender and society...”
—Lyse Doucet, OBE Award winning journalist, BBC's Chief International Correspondent

“... an eye-opening wake-up call...that impacted my views of the world, as a man and a father, as much as Half the Sky: Turning Oppression into Opportunity for Women Worldwide”
—Gregory Hogben, Author of My Daughter's Army, Women's Rights and LGBT Advocate

“...Nina Ansary has written one of this new decade’s most significant books that will inspire every culture to understand the power of historical gender bias...” —Claudia Chan, Founder of S.H.E. Summit, Author of This Is How We Rise

“Dr. Ansary is changing history -- and challenging today's world where women continue to be marginalized...” —Kristy Wallace, CEO, Ellevest Network

“An impassioned appeal to accelerate the global movement for gender equality...challenges each of us to spread the carpet of justice to unlock the potential of women everywhere.”
—Bill Clifford, President and CEO, World Affairs Councils of America