

M. Fethullah Gülen inspired tens of thousands of people to open schools in hundreds of countries. His promotion of dialogue and understanding among peoples of the world has flourished as a social movement called Hizmet. Gülen addresses the spiritual and practical aspects of Islam and promotes interfaith dialogue and peace in his more than eighty books many of which have been published in world languages.

Devoted to the Truth is a contemplative and rejuvenating response of scholar Fethullah Gülen to the persecution which was under way in full force in his home country as he was penning the essays in this volume. Each essay, on its own and in connection with the others, is centered around self-reckoning and living a virtuous life. Gülen sets guidelines on how to uphold truth as an ultimate purpose and maintain commitment despite numerous challenges on the way. As he humbly delineates certain human weaknesses and possible ways to triumph over them, he is speaking not only to his community in the context of the trials and tribulations they are facing at home, but also to every individual around the globe who fights a personal inner struggle in his or her soul searching for a meaning for their existence. Despite many tragedies and unprecedented persecution, Gülen encourages his readers to stay focused, be self-critical, positively oriented, and keep on shaping their lives to improve the world for all.

“These essays provide an insight into how to keep going in the face of pain. Gülen keeps going back to the core message he has been preaching for a long time: depend upon God, look to yourself, look to the created world, and reach out in compassion and peace.”

—Rev. Prof. Simon Robinson

“In this book, you will find moderate and balanced thought and righteous deeds [and Hizmet’s] rational and mature Islamic authenticity in essence, spirit, and content, alongside contemporaneity in form, tools, and methods of work and activity.”

—Prof. Dr. Mohamed Abdallah El-Sharqawy
