

Autosled Promotes Bart Schuster to Senior Vice President of OEM and Government Relations

Increases support for automotive manufacturers and government officials

ROCKVILLE, MD - December 4, 2023- Autosled, a leading provider of digital technology solutions for vehicle transport logistics, announced today the promotion of Bart Schuster to Senior Vice President of OEM and Government Relations. A 27-year veteran of the automotive industry, Bart most recently served as Vice President of Sales for Autosled. In his new role, Bart continues to manage Autosled's sales division as they drive revenue growth, while also expanding Autosled's strategic OEM partnerships, coupled with expansion of the company's government services division.

"Bart has been a strong addition to servicing the logistics needs that we have," noted Kathy Bray, director of business ventures for Summit Automotive Partners. "He, and Autosled, have done a great job in aiding us with our vast geographic footprint, and does so with exemplary customer service. I look forward to his help as dynamic needs arise!"

Prior to joining Autosled, Bart worked for over a decade in retail automotive with experience that includes running retail auto dealerships. He also had a successful career working for OEMs with roles in sales, market development, logistics and regional management. His tenure across both retail dealerships and manufacturers makes him uniquely qualified for this position.

"Bart's industry experience and understanding of OEM requirements have been instrumental in facilitating our expansion into the OEM logistics sector," noted David Sperau, co-founder and chief revenue officer for Autosled. "The logistical challenges within retail automotive are multifaceted, complex and require a high level of focus. Bart's drive, determination and familiarity with the nuances involved is setting the stage for Autosled to make a really positive impact going forward."
